PRESENTATIONS

1. Presentation recap, Gianni Feoli from Calvin, Giordano & Associates 10:18AM

Developed an understanding of the “tool kit” that can be used to integrate design components that can celebrate history, memory and meaning.

2. Create a list to honor a person, event, historical building, etc.

Suggestions were made for individuals in the community that should be recognized. Some recommendations were Guy Davis, Louise Thompson, Charles Murray, Willie J. Thompson, George Taylor, Russell Holloway Jr., Dr. Jack White, James Roberts, Former Mayor James Christy, Felix Williams, Tom Allen, Ora Landers Hamilton, Albert Cooper, Booker T. Williams, Le Roy Washington, Eula Clarke, Phil Harvey, and Laurine Grant.

Lloyd Jones spoke about the Black Heritage Trail throughout Martin County and incorporating the City of Stuart.

Margaret Bromfield spoke about the importance of representing more recent black history to pull interest for the younger generation.

Philip Harvey asked how the categories would be broken down for representation.

Jackie Vitale suggested implementing migration patterns.

The group discussed further representation for baseball, faith, railroad workers, educators, music, agriculture women’s groups, military veterans, Korean War, law enforcement, Martin Memorial Hospital, small business owners, government representation and more.

3. Create a matrix (identify ‘tool kit’ to celebrate history) 11:04AM
